

Product name: Krux Space City MAXProduct code: KRXG002

Do you miss the good old days when everything was much simpler? No work, no duties, and each day just brought a new mission for your wheelers? Say no more, we have something to take you back to the age of endless drifting among cookie boxes and plastic blocks.

Just lay Krux Space City MAX on your desk and it instantly becomes your favorite map to build your colorful world on – with the only difference being an optical mouse instead of a small, yellow Porsche.

Cut every corner

Forget Liberty City – these streets portrayed on the pad saw your first car getaways. Or your searches for the Big Bad Guy's lair. Or your tiny toy bank heists. The same streets sipped Kool-Aid faster than we could ever do.

The stylized design calls back to the carpets that we used to play (and nap) on in our youth. Now, no matter if you're selling headshots at tournaments or dealing with fat money on the stock market, you can bring back the old vibe.

To the last inch

Don't let the retro looks deceive you. Krux Space City MAX pad is produced using Control technology. The microfibers allow your mouse sensors to detect even the most minuscule movement. You can also swing your heart out with the mouse like it's a small plastic race car, 120 cm width gives you all the space for that.

Calamity-proof

All city builder games have the same problem – some bad planning, some bad RNG and suddenly hours of your work are ruined by a flood or some other natural disaster. Can't have that in your real-life workspace.

Space City mouse pad is made of a hydrophobic material that doesn't care if your hands get sweaty or if you accidentally spill some soda on it. Nothing soaks into it, so in case of emergency you just give it a quick rinse, wipe it dry and you're good.

Solid stuff

Call the Department of Transportation, Space City is bringing new quality standards into the game. The pad is 3 millimeters thick and that makes it not only very resistant but also very comfortable for your hands. Additionally, it sports an all-around stitching, so no matter how hard you're drifting, it will not scuff.
